N essential Part of Christianity is now before us; and wholoever falls short of this Character here given, and yet presumes to account himself the faithful Servant of Christ, is mistaken in his Notions of Himself, and frustrates the Purposes of his Redeemer. For the whole verse runs thus, Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purific unto himself a peculiar People, zeasous of good Works!

By good Works, we may understand in General, the Exercise of Goodness, whether in Acts of Justice, Piety, or Charity. For the

And this I shall represent, first, under a general View: And, secondly, under some more particular Considerations. And, and the Exercise of Charity. For the that

I. That we are obliged to the actual Exercife of Goodness will appear, in a general Way, if we do but turn a Thought to the State and Order of created Beings, and the Defigns of their Creatours of For though no Vermebor Vice can be ascribed to those Beings, which have no Understanding; yet remis and negligent Man may form a just and uleful Reproof to himself, upon this Observation, That whilft He, who is the Glory of visible Creatures, fails of exercifing his Powers and Abilities, and of Answering the Ends of his Creation, all the on ther Parts even of the natural World do exerc themselves to their nemost Capacity in promoting and fulfilling the great Ends and Purpoles of Nature The Sun cealeth not to VI fit, and cheer, and beautify the World, but cometh forth as a Bridegroom out of his Chamber, and rejoiceth as a Giant to run his Courfe; And if it once food ftill in the midft of Heaven, and bafted not to go down, about a whole Day, this was owing to the Special Restraint of the Creatour of for Otherwise, It goeth forth from the attermost Part of the Heaven, and runneth about unto the end of it again. And fo the other Geleftial Bodies maintain their constant Revolutions, for the Mustra tion of God's Glory, the Benefit of Mankind, and proper and the Regularity and Harmony of the World. And if we bring down our Prospect of Beings purely Animate are in a State of Motion and Activity, under their proper Proportions. And those things here below, as well as those above, which are destinate of Life, are not yet wanting in their Metion but are making continual Advances, agreeably to their proper Tendencies, for the Accomplishment of their proper Ends. The Seas are fulfilling the Course of Nature by conftant Agitations, and, for the like Purpole, the Springs break forth into the Rivers, which run among the Hills. Even the Earth it felf, Unactive and Sluggish as it is, must not stand an Exception to the general Laws of Activity, which the Other natural Bodies are governed by, but bears its proper Pare, and moves in Concert with them

Thus it is in the Constitution of things Natural It doth not suffice that they do not act in a plain Opposition to the Intentions of their Maker, and the Laws assigned to them, but that they should not act at all, is likewise absolutely inconsistent with their State, and the Design of their Author. Operation is the End of created Beings, and each must actually perform its proper proper Offices, in order to the Perfection of the Whole. And fuch a Course of Operations, proportioned to the different Conditions of Beings, is still more eminent in the intelle-Qual and moral World. The bleffed Angels, which are vested with the Highest Principles of Activity, are most remarkable for the Quicknels and Conftancy of their Motions, in Obedience to their Maker. Thus, in Jacob's Vision, we have an Account of the Angels of God a Gen. xxviii. frending and descending betwixt Earth and Heaven; And the Reason of this is plainly given by the spofile, they are all ministring Spirits: To which purpole we read of the feven ETES, which are Revel. v. 6. the seven SPIRITS of God sent forth into all the Bareb. 2119 And when with these Passages of Scripture we compare those others, wherein we have an Account of the Angels franding round about the Throne, and falling before the Throne on their Faces, and worshipping God, we have in one view their Diligence in exercising Positive Acts of Homage and Obedience to the Almighey. Prom all which it appears, that the leveral Powers and Capacities of all Beings are to be Actually exercised, according to the Direction and Appointment of God; and that if any of those Beings should only suspend the Exercise of their Powers and Capacities, so as not so at at All, according to their respective Conditions, they would thereby as plainly violate the divine Appointment, as if they should Act in a direct Contrariety to it.

Thus the general Laws of created Beings do point out our Obligation to Politive Duty, or, the Actual Exercise of Goodness, and should be unto us a constant Rule of Instruction and Admonition; A Method of Instruction, not only very Useful, in the Nature of it, and therefore necessary to be mentioned; but likewise recommended in the sacred Scriptures themselves, the Standard and Fountain of spiritual Wisdom and Instruction.

There we are taught, that the Heavens declare the Glory of God, the Elements also, and the Gompounds of them, Fire and Hail, Snow and Napouri, Wind and Storm, fulfilling his Word: There we have an Admonition to exert our selves in proper Testimonics of Duty to God, taken from the natural Notices and Regards which are exerted by inferiour Beings, the Ox knowing his Ownen, and the Ast his Master's Crib: There we are required to learn Application, and Diligence in the Execution of Duty, from the Activity of very inconfiderable Creatures, labouring in purfuir fair of their natural Tendencies and Direction, Go to the Ant, thou Sluggard, confider ber Ways, and be wife. There we are supplied by our Bleffed Saviour Himself with an Argument, for the Actual Exercise of Goodness, taken from an Observation upon the Trees of the Field: Every Tree that bringeth not forth good Matt. vii. 198 Fruit, is bewn down, and cast into the Fire. Not only those Trees which produce Corrupt Fruit, but those which do not Actually bring forth Good Fruit, those which produce No Fruit at All must be destroyed. For, that this is the Meaning of the Text, is very plain from our Lord's Parable of the Figetree: The Owner whereof faid unto the dreffer of bis Vineyard, Be-Luke xiii. bold, these three Years I come seeking Fruit on this Fig-tree, and find none; cut it down, why cumbreth it the Ground? To which nothing could justly be opposed but this, Lord, let it alone this Year also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it: and if it bear Fruit, well: and if not, then after that thou shalt cut it down. When it finally proves Fruitless, it must, in all reason, be finally Destroyed.

To this purpose our Blessed Saviour, in the Parable of the Seed sown, represents the Matth. xiii. Faithful, and only acceptable Servants of God under the View of That Seed, which Actually brought forth Fruit, some an hundred fold, Some fixty, and some thirty. And in the Parawho had bid his Talent in the Barek, under the Character of a flothful, and wicked, and unprofitable Servant, and justly obnoxious to the feverest Punishment; Where it should be well observed, that This Servant had not employed his Talent to his Lord's Detriment or Difhonour; that he had not Abused it, or perverted it to any Evil Purpoles, in Contempt of his Lord, or direct Rebellion against him, He had not fo much as Squandred and Wasted his Talent by any Means whatloever, Buche had neglected to improve it, to apply it to Any Purpose, to make any Use of it at All; and upon this fingle Point, because he was Slothful and Unactive, did his Condemnation turn Though he had Actually committed no Evil, yet because he had not actually done any Good, the dreadful Sentence is given against him, Cast ye the unprofitable Servant into outer Darkness, there shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth. The unprofitable Servant is the Parallel to the fruitles Tree, which must not be suffered to stand at all, because it would stand to no other purpose but to cumber the Ground had had will be view of I hat Seed, which

How superficial therefore and imperfect must our Notions of our own State be, if we do not plainly perceive our selves obliged, in order to Salvation, not only to withfrand the Temptacions of Sin, but to fulfit the various Duties which are enjoined: Which may ftill further appear from that more Particular Consideration of this point which is now in the

of Duty, grounded upon the Love of God, we do undoubtedly acquit our felves in an Acceptable manner before him; And if the Other parts of our Behaviour are but Agreeable to This, we shall not fail of the Recompence of Reward; And, as Corrupt Inclinations Within are More Powerful, and Temptations from Without More Engaging, Acts. of Self-denial will be still More Approved in the Judgment of God, and Crowned with a Higher Reward. But still 'tis possible that we may deny our selves the commission of most Agreeable Sins, and yet contribute Little or Nothing to the advancement of God's Glory: The abstaining from finful Actions is indeed the preventing direct Dishonour to God; but our Obligation to promote God's Honour does signifie a great deal more than our avoiding plain instances of Distonour towards Him; It implies Politive and Ablolute Duties, whereby we shall give direct occasion of Celebrating His Praise, and propagating the Glory of His Name. And therefore all Those who are so far Innocent and Harmless, that they do not launch out into any Enormities, but yet spend their Lives, and possess their Talents, in a Dreaming, and Uleless. For, mexty to the Advancement of God's Glory, which is the chief End, and therefore should be the chief Aim of every Rational Oreasure; the Good of Mankinds demands the Exercise of Goodness at our Hands. And, as it is observed above, that our Obligation to Glorifie God, does day us under a Necessay of all such Positive Duties, as may be subservient to that Great Purpose, and does not confift in the pure Avoidance of Wicked Actions, which would reflect Dishonour upon him ; so here it is obvious, that the Good which we are to do unto our Brechren, is Direct and Politive, and does not . only confift in our forbearing to Hurt and Acts of our own, to the utmoft anothe young

Those have little Reason to expect Admission into the Society of the Blessed Above, who do not Contribute their utmost to the Happiness of Humane Society upon Earth. When we are taught that the Fruitless Tree must be cut down, that it may not be an Incumbrance upon the World, which receives no Advantage from it; what can those Unprofitable Souls think of themselves, which serve to no other Purpose, but to drag their Bodies

Bodies through the Benefits of the Air, which they scarce deserve to breath in? Let them so far apply the Parable, as to consider, that though they are lettlalone for this Year also, yet God's Long-suffering will have a Period; and when they are Hemen down, they shall be suff into the Fire.

Arguments of our Obligations to Politive Duty; or the Actual exercise of Goodness; but still there are some Other Considerations, which may be a Further Illustration of this Point; Assault but and other contractions of this point; Assault but and other or or or an adjust

Thirdly That Politive Goodness is necessary to prove our Fidelity in the Service of God. Wholoever neglects the Affirmative Precepts, while he observes the Negative ones, cannot be efteemed a Paichful Servant; because he doth but observe a Partilos his Lord's Will. And therefore as he falls short in his Service he multudo fo in his Reward too. Though God rewards Alb that is Religion in us, yet He fewards nothing Elfe, and doth not place to His account, what is done upon a Worldly Convenience to our Selves of And tis oblervable, that if we go no further in our Dury, than Abstaining from Excesses, there is eid2 nothing nothing in This, but what Nature, without Religion would fuggeft and support. The several Rules of Abstinence are so many Laws of Selfpreservation; And 'tis possible, that our Obedi-ence may rise to the Heighth of These, whilst we do not so much serve God as our selves. Therefore 'tis observable, that the ancient Philosophers, making Nature, rather than the Will of God, the Rule of their Virtue, did turn their Precepts chiefly upon Negative Goodness. But the Son of God, who came from Heaven to Reveal his Father's Will, hath taught us to give Other and Higher Evidences of our Fidelity to God. The leveral Parables which have been mentioned, and the Parable of the Virgins, and the Account of the last Judgment, do All fignifie, that our Fate at the Last day will be determined by the Meafures of Politive Goodness: Which will Andrews and the horas personal a foot and and Fourthly, To be still Further necessary in us, as it is an Engaging Recommendation and Endearment of Religion to Others. Tis obvious that Those Duties are peculiarly Reasonable and Necessary which restect Homour upon our Holy Religion; as Positive Goodness ever does. The Obligations of this the Earth, and to a City fet on an Hill.

The Uncommon and Shining Vertues of the first Christians were, under God, highly Instrumental towards the Conversion of the World. Their Perseverance in well-doing, their Zeal for their Master, and the Effects of their Charity to all the World, were so many demonstrations of the Spirit. The Apologists did ever appeal to this Known and Unexceptionable Testimony in their several Apologies for the Christian Religion. And this Argument was of the Greater force, because it was such as the Ignorant could easily Conceive, and the Learned could neither Despite nor Disprove.

Such was the Excellency of Their Examples, and such should be Ours, if we would be rank'd amough those, who turn many to Righteon/ness. We should not be Content with Low and Obscure Performances, but

A Christian is described under Characters Importing, not only that he is purged from dead Works, but that he faithfully ferres the living God not only that he hath put off the Old Man, but that he hath put on the New Man, in order to become an habitation of God through exceptionable Teftimony in their lending ads-

Disposition to that Perfect Goodness, which is required in a Christian. The Restraint of the Passions, which made so great a Part of Philosophy, is no more than a Preparation to the Principal Ducies of Christianity

The Peculiar Doctrines of the Gospel begun, where the Other Institutions ended. When Man's Reason was at a loss, and could carry him no further, Faith came in to his Succour, that he might go on to Persection. And as Faith is in it self the Highest and Noblest Principle, so it is a Practical Principle, and by Works is Faith made perfect.

The Gospel does not only require those Good Works which were inforced by the Law of Nature, and that in Higher degrees of Excellency than what they appeared in before; but does likewise call for Additional Acts of Goodness, in such Instances as could never have issued forth from Natural Light. Those Good Works, which stand in the First rank under the Gospel, are such as Reason without Faith could not discover, and Nature without Grace could not perform.

And all this ought to be well consider'd by Those, who go on in a Middle way bebe free from the Vices of the Carnal Man, are yet at a great Distance from the Persections of the Spiritual. They satisfy themselves, if they step not aside into Wrong Paths; though they do not Move forward in the Right One, toward the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. They hang in a State of Indisferency between God and the World, without any vehemence of Tendency toward Either. And though they have experience enough, to see through this Grave cheat, which is so commonly put upon Life, yet they still remain Indulgent of Ease, and Patient of Delusion. They are not willing to offend God by stagrant Acts of Iniquity; but they continually provoke him, by neglecting to do those things that are pleasing in his Sight.

Wherefore set every Unprositable Servant

Wherefore let every Unprofitable Servant Carefully view the Precipice, whereon he stands; that he may betimes retire from the Dreadful Brink to a safer Scituation: Let his Total Neglect of Good Works be Succeeded by Earnest-ness, and Assiduity, and Fervency in the Performance of them. And This leads me in the next Place briefly to represent,

H. That Zeal is the Necessary Qualification of Politive Duty, or Acts of Goodness; for 'tis Incumbent upon the Servants of our Lord, that they should be Zealous of Good Works. The value of Performances does much depend upon That Disposition of Mind from whence they flow. When Good Works are done with a Negligence and Unconcern, as if it were perfeetly Indifferent to the Man, whether they be Undertaken, or let alone, whether they Succeed or Miscarry, They then sit upon him with a very ill grace, and he may eafily expect, that What is Performed with fo much Coldness, will meet with a Cold Reception. 'Tis the Life and Spirit, the Sprightliness and the Fervour of Religious enterprizes, that must recommend them to God, the Discerner of Spirits. It was this Warmth of Concern for God's Honour in Phineas, that must be Imputed unto him for Righteousness, among all posterities for Evermore. The very same thing done with Reluctancy, and after much Instigation, and with a Colder hand, had been destitute of the Ornament, and Unworthy the Reward.

The utmost Glory of Elijah shines forth in this short Character, I have been very JEALOUS for the Lord God of Hofts. And there is nothing and decome Lealons of Good Wor upon Record that redounds more to David's Honour, than the Expecsions of his Zeal in preparing a place for the Ark of the Lord of I will not come within the tabernacle of mine bouse, nor climb up into my bed: I will not suffer mine eyes to sleep, nor mine eye-lids to slumber, neither the Temples of my bead to take any rest. True Zeal will break through all Opposition, and Dissiparities, and Dissouragements, sustain all inconveniencies with Alacrity, and render us Restless and Dissatisfied, till we engage in the work and labour of love.

With such Eagerness and Earnestness do all Good men constantly approach the Throne of Grace, in Publick and Private Devotions; with such Eagerness and Earnestness do they embrace all Opportunities of performing Works of Charity and Compassion; with such Eagerness and Earnestness do they press forward unto every Good Work, for the Advancement of God's Honour, and the Benefit of Mankind. And wholoever does not find himself affected with This Necessary and Blessed Disposition, should bewail the Imperfection and Deadness which he still labours under, and incessantly implore the Communications of the Spirit of God, that he may be actuated with the Holy Flame, and become Zealous of Good Works.

do bear so Near and Plain a Relation to the Occasion and Purposes of this great Assembly, that Your Thoughts must needs run easily into the Application of them. For as we may safely attribute the Character of Good Works, to Those Charitable Provisions, which we have now under Consideration; So we may with Equal Propriety, Approve and Recommend the Zeal of those Charitable Souls, which have engaged in This Good Work, and which have been Earnest and Eager in their Desires and Endeavours, to propagate and carry it on to Perfection.

Tis not more evident, that the Advancement of God's Honour, and the Benefit of our Brethren, are Proper Ends of Good Works, than it is, that Those Great and Glorious Ends are duely Answer'd by that Education, which is given in the Charity-Schools, to Those Helples Children, whose Happiness it is, that you Justly regard their Misery.

God is pleased to express a particular Approbation and Acceptance of that Sollicitude for his Honour, which Abrabam testified, Honour, by Transmitting a Sense of Religion to his Posterity. Shall I bide from ABRAHAM that thing which I do, Jeeing that all the Nations of the Earth shall be blessed in him? For I know-bim, that he will command his Children and his. Houshold after him, that they keep the Way of the Lord.

There is indeed this Difference betwixt. Your Endeavours to Propagate Religion, and Those of Abraham, That Yours do want the Support of Paternal Authority, which His had; But there is This difference also, that Your Sollicitude in Promoting God's Honour, and Deriving the Blessings of Religion upon Times to come, cannot possibly be the more Binding or Confirm'd by the Additional Ties of Natural Affection, as the Patriarchs possibly might. The Children which you are Qualifying to convey Religion with Safety and Success unto Posterity, are Yours Purely by Adoption.

But still the Honour of God, though it be your Principal Aim, is not the Sole Inducement to your Glorious Enterprizes and Designs. You are pursuing some Other Ends, but Those such as, next to God's

Honour,

Honour, should lay uppermost in the Purpoles of all Wise and Good Men, and do both Justifie and Demand your Zeal. For Your Prospects are, the special Advantages of Those, whom you take into your Protection,

That the Designs and Management of the Charity-Schools are Justly calculated for the Special Advantage of Those who are so happy as to be taken into them, cannot be doubted, and will not want to be proved, till it shall cease to be Universally Granted by Mankind, that Knowledge and Industry, Good Manners and Modesty, Probity and Piety, and all Kinds of Virtue, with the Blessed Consequences of them, in This and a Future State, are Preserable to Ignorance and Idleness, Rudeness and Impudence, Dishonesty and Impiety, and all Kinds of Vice, together with those Varieties of Mischief and Misery, which slow from These Impure Fountains, and must Unavoidably slow from them for Ever.

very much depend upon a Defign adapted, with no less Prudence than Piety, to the Extirpation of Vice and the Advancement of Virtue; such a Singular Race of Men would not easily be thought to Deserve so High a Blessing, which they know not how to Esteem.

If Vertues be, in the Nature of Things, the firmest Sinews of Society; and more-over that Kingdom, which provides most Effectually for the Support and Honour of Religion, harh the best Title to Divine Favour; what Blessings may we not expect from Heaven, if this Beautiful Branch of Charity should but Spread and Flourish, and the Shadow of it become a Sacred Shelter to the Land?

This Defign is of so Great Consequence to Religion, perhaps of Greater Consequence than any other Design which hath been set on Foot since the Reformation, that if it should happily be espoused by the Publick, and become National, it might, in the Event, prove a Just reason of our hopes, that God will bestow upon us all the Publick Blessings which are promised to Righteous Nations.

And the Design thus fet on Foot, they showed the Fost to others, who Shofenbed also as they thought fit. So that when the Design became pretty well known, it commonly met with to good Success, that the Subscribers have been able to set up a School in about 7 or 8 Months Time.

After a competent Sum of Money Subscribed, the next Thing the Subscribers did, was to agree upon, and lettle certain Rules and Orders for the Governing these Schools, for the better effecting the End of the Charity, and easier Managing the fame, to the Satisfection of all concern'd, and without giving Offence.

Where Subscriptions have not been sufficient for Supporting

Where Subscriptions have not been sufficient for Supporting these Schools, it has been usual, in some Places, to have Sermons preach'd once a Year, or oftner, sheving the Necessay and Use ruiness of this Charity, and to have Collections made at the Church Door for that purpose after Sermon.

At St. Katherine's by the Tower in London, Two of the Prostees are commonly choic Collectors of the Land-Tan, and give the Poundage to the School, wherefore the other Trustees as affect them in Collecting by Turns. They have Line Sermon at this, and the Parish of St. James's Clarkenness, with Collections at the Church-Doors, appropriated to their respective Charity-Schools they also Farm the Lamps in the Parish of St. Katherine's, and give the Prosts thereof to the Schools; in which last Particular, the Parish of St. Paul Shadwell follow their Example.

Next to the many Lectures that are preached in and about London, nothing has tended so much to increase the Number of them, as the publick Examination of the Children in their

them, as the publick Examination of the Children in their Schools; where, at certain Times, the Children of each School are examined as to their improvement in Spelling and Reading, and especially as to their Knowledge of the Doctrines of our most Holy Religion, and of the several Scripture Reasons performing to the Belles and Practice of them. [63]

When the Monies Subscribed or Collected, have been more than sufficient to defray the ordinary Charge of a School, the Overplus has been apply'd sometimes to increase the Number of Schools in the same Place, or the Number of the Scholars; sometimes to put out Children Apprentices, as appears by the Account annexed; and sometimes to purchase Land for the same Uses, as in White Chappel; sometimes it is laid out in Picting up and Building School Houses and Work Houses, and finding Work and Implements, as at Greenwich, and St. Margaret's, Westminster; at which last Place a Proposit having been made to the Veftry about the Year 1701, they agreed to let the Truffees of the Grey Coat-School have a large House belonging to the Parish Rent-free for 7 Years, and to let them have as many of the Parish Children (with the usual Pensions they gave to their Nurses) as the Trusfees would undertake to maintain and employ with Work. Whereupon the Traffees took in the 50. Boys belonging to the Charity School, and at several times afterward, fo many Boys and Girls, as have fince increas'd the Num . ber of Children to about 1 90, on the Parish Account, and have fee them all to Work; fome upon Spinning of Wool, others upon mending and making of Shoes, others upon Sewing and Knitting &c. and the Income of the Charity, and their Earnings, are applyed to find them in Diet, Lodging, and other Necessaries the Management whereof has succeeded so well, that, in order to lay a more folid Foundation for its Support and Maintenance, Her late Majesty was pleased, in the year of Her Reign, to incorporate the said School, and to make the Trustees one Body Politick, by the Name of The Governours of the Groy Coar Hospital in Tothil Fields, of the Royal Foundation of QUEEN.

ANNE. And this Advantage hath attended this and other Foundations of the like Kind, that the Children, both Boys and Girls, are secustomed to Labour, and thereby better fitted to be put out as Servants or Apprentices.

In many Places of the Country, the Ministers have put the poor Children to School at their own Charge, In fome, they have taken the Trouble of Teaching 'em themselves grads. The Method of Choosing the Truftees for the Management of these Schools, has been various: In some Places, the first Proposers being approved, and desired by the rest, have taken upon them the Trionble of the faid Brust: In other Places, 7 or 12 Subscribers, who were thought most likely to attend the Care, have, at a Yearly Meeting, been appointed Trustees for one Year, sogether with the Minister, who is always a Trustees if a Subscriber; and in other Places all the Subscribers are Trustees.

The Children have also been taken in by different Methods; but commonly the Subscribers, where the Number has been large, have drawn Lots which of them should put in a Child at the first Opening of the School y and afterwards (on Vacancies) they presented Children by Turnson At Tiverent in Devensire, every one or more subscribing 302, per Aman towards the Charity Schools, has Liberty of Naming a Child to enjoy the Benefit of the School, he or she appearing to the Trusteen side Objects for it; by which Method, the Subscribera there shave a particular religious to the Child or Children by them put in, and several give them their Diet, and others, when they are sin, take them, for put them our Apprentices as a prize and so red on a rest and on the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a series of the subscribera and so red on a series of the subscribera and subscr

N. B. There are 241 Schools mentioned in this Account, without fignifying the Number of Children taught; concerning which, the Account generally given has been, That all the Poor Children of those Places are taught in them.

June 1718. Note, Where the Number of Children have been fignified to the Publisher of this Account, without distinguishing the Sexes, they are put in the Column of Boys; which is the Reason of the great Dispreportion between the Number of Boys, and that of Girls, taught in the Country.

An ACCOUNT of some CHARITIES of the like Nature in other Parts of the World.

III S Majesty's Plantations, particularly Dem Constant, and Barbaboes, are well provided with schools for reading, writing, and casting Accompts; and that set up at New York for Catechizing the Servants and Slaves, by Order of the Society for Propagating the Gospel in Foreign Parts, is very much increased under the Care of Mr. Elias Neau, formerly a Confesior on Board the Gallies in France.

In Octmany, the famous Orphan House at Hall, founded 1698. has been so much improved, that at present about 460 Persons are freely maintained therein. Concerning which, see the Historical Narration in English, entituled, Pietas Hallensis; Parts I, II, III. This Example has occasioned great Endeavours for Promoting Schools in other Parts of Germany, among the Protestants of both Denominations.

In the Year 1700, the Reverend Dr. Met fet up a School at Hersfield in Delle, which their Highnesses the Landgrave and Landgravine of Hesse Cassel are pleased very much to encourage. And the like has been done in Switzerland.

In the Kingdoms of Sweven and Denmark, the like Bndeavours have been used; and particularly in the latter, for sending Ministers, and setting up Schools among the sinmarkers, in Order to bring them to a true Knowledge of the Means of Salvation.

The CZAR of Quitoup has let up Schools in several of the great Towns in his Dominions.

Several Charity Schools are erected at Tranquebar in the Cast Moles, by the Protestant Missionaries sent thither by His Majesty the King of Denmark, in the Year 1705. An Account of whose Success may be seen in a Book, entituled, Propagation of the Gospel in the East; Published by the Printer of this Account.

At fort St. George, in the East-Indies, the Governour, Council, and Inhabitants, having contributed liberally towards fetting up a Charity-School there, in the Year 1713, there is now a flourishing School for 32 Children of the poor Inhabitants, of all Christian Nations, in that Garrison, taught, cloubed, and wholly maintained, and 10 more are taught gratis: And the Honourable East-India Company in London, to thew their Readiness to countenance and encourage so good a Defign, have given a large House and Ground in the Fort to this School.

In the English Count at Madras, there is a Portuguele School fet up for the Children of those Slaves that belong to. the English ; where 18 Children are instructed in the Christian Religion, &c. by a Master educated under the Missionaries at Tranquebar. And in June 1717. a School was opened at fort St. David, for the Malabarian Children, taught likewife by a Master obtained from the said Missionaries who have printed at Tranquebar the Church of England Carechifm in. the Malabarick and Porruguefe Languages, and an Emplift Spelling-Book, for the Use of these and other Schools creeting in those Parts: And they have also printed the English Plalms, according to the Version of Dr. Brady, and N.
